PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

Tim Regan

STABAT MATER

I grew up in a Benedictine parish. Therefore, on Fridays during Lent when the Sisters took us across the playground to our tiny parish church for Stations, we always used the "Way of the Cross" pamphlet published by Liturgical Press, Collegeville, Minnesota. If you don't own a copy, I strongly recommend that you order one from Lit Press, for the low, low price of $1.95, and use it in your Lenten devotions this year.

I am looking at my copy right now. What brings up strong emotions and memories for me is the Stabat Mater hymn. One stanza of the song is sung at each station. The melody is ancient, simple, and sorrowful. With the prayers at each station, much of the texts taken from the Passion itself, it is a stunningly beautiful and evocative work of liturgical art.

There are several theories about the actual composer of the Stabat Mater. The strongest candidate, apparently, is Pope Innocent III, which is interesting, because he was a very powerful and important pope in his era. But he was also a brilliant scholar, one of the greatest of the early Italian Renaissance. The hymn is frequently used for Stations of the Cross formats, but is also part of the official liturgy on the Feast of Our Lady of Sorrows, celebrated each year on September 15.

Every verse of the poem, every sentence and thought, is beautiful, strikingly simple, and sad. At the Cross her station keeping, Stood the mournful Mother weeping, Close to Jesus to the last.....That's the very first line, and it puts you right there, "standing" next to her, shocked at the tragedy of the scene.

The Third Station: Gracious Mother, Font of Love, Touch My Spirit from above, Make my heart with yours accord.....Fourth Station: Make me feel as You have felt; Make my soul to glow and melt; with the love of Christ My Lord!....

Do you see what I mean by "evocative?"

The poem does not hold back from the reality and brutality of the execution - Fifth Station: Bruised, derided, cursed, defiled; She beheld her tender Child; All with bloody scourges rent..... Twelfth Station: Let His stripes and scourgings smite me; At His Holy Cross requite me; Let his blood refresh me there!

I'm signing off for now, dear Serrans, except for these reminders:

- March 12: Our annual Serra / K of C Seminarian Awards Dinner, 6 P.M. at St. Charles (rosary followed by social hour and dinner); and,
- April 18: District 7, North Central Region, Spring Leadership Conference, Our Lady of Grace, 8:30 A.M. Mass followed by workshop sessions.

Here's wishing all of you good health, and a prayerful and productive continuation of the Lenten season!

SPEAKER HIGHLIGHTS

A CONVERSION STORY by Jo Lohnes

Our Serra Club welcomed Darray Hartig, a soon-to-be mother of five, married to Dan Hartig, having met him while serving 7 ½ years in the US Navy that finalized in September 2015. While in the Navy, she completed nuclear power school and became a legal officer learning the UCMJ (Uniform Code of Military Justice). In the spring of 2009, she uncovered a sailor stealing mail and identities taking thousands of dollars. The sailor was found guilty and thrown into the brig. As legal officer, she was obliged to visit him in the brig which was her first experience ever visiting a prison. Stay tuned, there is more to come on prison visits.

Religion-wise at 10:00 p.m. every night on deployment, the chaplain would come and, over the announcing system, conduct nighttime prayer, which she enjoyed. She got out of the military in 2015 and was pregnant with her first child. At that point she was kind of Presbyterian, but they moved and found a Methodist Church where she liked the pastor and his homilies. Her husband encouraged her to join a bible study, which she did. In time, she became familiar with scripture and practicing it.

Scripture becomes real when you start hearing and applying it. It was Matthew 25 vs 37-40 that hit home. “Then the just will ask him: Lord, when did we see you hungry and feed you or see you thirsty and give you drink? When did we welcome you away from home or clothe you in your nakedness? When did we visit you when you were ill or in prison? The king will answer them: I assure you, as often as you did it for one of my least brothers, you did it for me.” She began her spiritual journey walking more and more with Christ and taking things a little bit more seriously.

In December 2019, she, her husband, and three children moved to Minnesota. Her husband had just become Catholic earlier in 2019 and they decided to send their first born to pre-school at Saint Charles Borromeo. She made the decision to become Catholic and do this journey together as a family, so she took OCIA classes and converted in 2021. She jumped in with both feet becoming president of Women’s Council and is currently still in that role. Additionally, Darray is now leading a women’s bible study out of her living room.

In that capacity, she met Jeromy who works for a non-profit called “The Redemption Project.” He got wind that Darray leads a women’s bible study and they were looking for some female mentors, having just launched a women’s cohort. He came to speak about it at the women’s bible study.

So, what is The Redemption Project? Their mission is: From Prison to Purpose, the Power of Partnership. Unleashing Redemption through empowerment that transforms lives, where education inspires, partnerships strengthen and hope ignites change.

In April 2024, Darray started her personal journey with an inmate, Melissa, after receiving her profile. Melissa was found guilty of transporting illegal aliens. Darray found herself hesitant having never dealt with this or seen people like this. Through some starts and stops and starts, she was able to get to know Melissa and chit-chatted back and forth and finally talked on the phone.

In October 2024, Darray had the opportunity to take a Sunday and visit Melissa in prison in Waseca, Minnesota. It was October 23, 2024, when Melissa got out of prison. Darray thought she would be able to take her to the airport, but it did not work out. Melissa flew back to Arizona and her boyfriend picked her up. He got her a cell phone, and they were living together in a trailer park. All was going well until it wasn’t. He became physical and she had to get out of the situation by escaping to a motel in Apache Junction, Arizona. In need of some cash, Melissa asked Darray. Darray took a deep breath and was able to get Melissa some cash and in turn contacted someone at the Redemption Project to help.

With the goal being to get Melissa to Minnesota by Thanksgiving, many prayers had to be answered and a miracle or two had to occur. Indeed, Melissa was able to sit at Darray’s Thanksgiving table in 2024.

Fast forward: Melissa is now a general manager at the Speedway in Plymouth. She works hard for a single paycheck, she stays clean and will never go back. Darray looks back and remembers the scripture and what we are called to do . . . what we do for the least of these we’re doing for Jesus.

VOCATIONS TRIP ESSAY WINNERS

SITES VISITED:

First Place Boys: Daniel

What was interesting about the trip was that all of the young men loved Jesus and are giving their lives to him by going into the priesthood. They also were very nice to us and shared their stories about their experiences on them becoming a priest. When we went to St. John Vianney Seminary, they had very moving stories that were inspiring. One of the stories was one of the Saint John Vianney's priest in training. It was that his mother had a dream, and God told her that she was going to have a son named Daniel and he was going to be a priest.

What I found impressive about the trip was that most of the people there were Christian and also how they decorated their churches. When we were walking through the campus, all of the buildings were so tall and had really beautiful architecture. What I found interesting is that all of the priests in training played a big flag football game with each other and Saint Paul Seminary won.

What I found out about vocations is that it sounds like hard work but rewarding because you are probably going to heaven. What I would like to be in my life is a holy married person because I would like to go to church with my kids and teach them about how great Jesus is and what he has done in my lifetime. Then I would tell them about my vocations trip and how much fun it was.

What I desire in my life is to live a life of being with God and follow his plans and what he has in store for me. Then I would like to help the poor and give them things that I do not need. The thing that I loved about the trip is that the people there were kind and answered our questions with such respect and reverence. The things that were interesting to me is the hard work they put in to building the chapel and their church. The stained glass windows were very beautiful and I would like to bring my family to those seminaries and show them how nice the seminarians were to us. I really loved this trip and I would like to bring my future family there and I hope that they would have the same experience as me.

First Place Girls: Daniele

During this vocations trip the Holy Spirit was very present and placed an awe in my heart. I met a lovely woman named Rosemary. When I was talking to Rosemary she was talking about how lovely it was at Little Sisters of the Poor. She didn't have a single bad thing to say about it or the people there. I ended up talking to lots of older people and no one had a single bad thing to say. I thought it was really amazing that God has given a place for older people to go and enjoy Him and how He has made sure that these people are given what they need and that He has placed it into peoples hearts the need to help these people and that they have decided to answer that call and help these people who have worked so hard and gave lots. It also made me really happy that the Lord gave us a very holy woman who created the Little Sister of the Poor, she was named Jeanne Jugan. At Little Sisters of the Poor it was very interesting to see how the sisters lived and their thoughts on life. One sister was talking about the Rosary and how it's like a machine gun and each Hail Mary is a bullet in our war with Satan. This was a new and interesting way to look at it because it was very accurate. It was also interesting to see how the sisters helped all the residents and how even when it was hard they never stopped because they know this is what God wants them to do and they want to serve Him in the way He wants them to serve Him as sisters at Little Sisters of the Poor. I think it's truly amazing to go and serve people and I know God wants me to but not as a sister. It was a very holy and happy experience to go and see these old people and I know we made their day and I hope they know that they made our day too. I think that God told each and every person in that experience something and I pray everyone there is listening to what He had to say because He placed everyone there for a reason and I pray everyone realizes that because what He tells us it the most important.

From Mother Maria Stella,
our “Walk With Me Novice” in the early 2000’s.

On February 2, the Canons Regular of Jesus the Lord, the Sisters of Charity of St. Anne and our community of Sisters in Jesus the Lord, gathered for the World Day of Consecrated Life. Over supper, each priest, brother or sister was invited to share something related to his/her vocation as a religious. Some brought a picture from when they became a novice or took vows, others told the story of how they first got interested in Russia and eventually made it here! Fr. Myron, the founder of our brother Canons and also founding pastor of our parish here, shared that he got interested in Russia at a young age, because the refrigerator factory where his father worked was asked to change production to airplane wings to assist Russia in World War II. Later, we realized that each one of us is here in Vladivostok because of Fr. Myron’s “yes” to his own vocation, which eventually led to the reopening of the Catholic church here in the Russian far East.

CALL TO HOLINESS

by MaryAnne Frank

Last month in this column, we referenced the Corporal Works of Mercy as a means to express our humanity ~ with human acts that see and recognize the distress of others, and respond in a manner that reflects the Divine Mercy of Jesus. As Christians we believe that Jesus suffered and died for our sins so that we might live; therefore, any action of mercy on our part can be a manifestation of His Divine Mercy!

My sister brought to my attention, a beautiful and timely article: "Gazing on the Face of Mercy" written by Sister Alicia Torres, F.E. It is well worth reading! Sister calls the Lenten Season "a festival of mercy and a season of love" and ties the spiritual works of mercy to the Eucharist. It is a powerful Lenten read as we are called to be holy! Sadly, I have lost access to the article so can only give you this 'tease' to its contents. I will keep looking for the article in the hope that I can share her wisdom and rich spirituality!

Vatican II made clear that "the universal call to holiness" wasn't reserved for those living religious life, but for the 'likes of us,' common, ordinary, in the pew Catholics. Each of us, within our vocational call, are summoned to reflect God's mercy through our individual station in life. Reviewing the Spiritual and Corporal Works of Mercy as we progress through the Lenten Season, just might give us a clue as to how we each are called to "a festival of mercy and a season of love."

- How does one discern and respond to the Lord's call to Holy Orders?
- What prerequisites are needed?
- What is the application, discernment and formation process?

The next Deacon Discernment Day will be held from 8:15 a.m.-5 p.m. on Saturday, April 25, at The Saint Paul Seminary.

The day includes Mass, prayer, reflections, lunch, Q&A, and more.

WILL YOU PRAY FOR A PRIEST EACH DAY?

Lord Jesus, Chief Shepherd of the Flock, we pray that in the great love and mercy of Your Sacred Heart You attend to all the needs of Your priest-shepherds throughout the world. We ask that You draw back to Your Heart all those priests who have seriously strayed from Your path, that You rekindle the desire for holiness in the hearts of those priests who have become lukewarm, and that you continue to give Your fervent priests the desire for the highest holiness. United with Your Heart and Mary's Heart, we ask that You take this petition to Your heavenly Father in the unity of the Holy Spirit. Amen.

Imprimatur: (Most Rev. Carl K. Moeddell, Vicar General and Auxiliary Bishop of Cincinnati)
